NOTES—First sheet.

Submitted to His Highness.

We have latterly been recruiting the posts of Amildar and Deputy Amildar entirely from the subordinate grades of good service and University qualifications or attainments. Even so, we have had occasion to feel that we are coming to the end of our resources and that some recruitment, in the manner Revenue Probationers used to be selected, is exceedingly desirable.

2. It will be noted that Revenue Probationers selected and approved in this way are different from Probationers for the Civil Service, selected under the Civil Service Rules, some by competitive examination and some by nomination by His Highness the Maharaja under the rules specially framed in that behalf —Rules which, by the way, are under revision. The Revenue Probationers in the present case are to start on a salary of Rs.50 per mensem, and Government orders Nos.R16591-629/L.R.741-05-1 dated 30th June 1906 and R 1658-76/L.R.104-96-1 dated 6th August 1906, prescribe the qualifications which candidates should possess for selection by His Highness the Maharaja, of this class of Proba-

3. Of the Probationers selected in the past, three are acting as Amildars, and two still continue as Probationers, as they have not as yet qualified themselves.

2." T.Abdul Khader B.A.
3." T.Hanumantha Rao B.A., B.L.

X
1.Hyder Ali Khan (not passed any examination).
2.Mohideen Sheriff (passed only Revenue).

4. What likelihood there is of the last two qualifying themselves and what should be done with them if they fail, may form the subject of separate consideration. To these names has to be added, that of C. Raja Rao Saheb, appointed as Probationer on the 28th March 1906 and attached to the Secretariat on a salary of Rs.100, who has not as yet qualified himself in any way.

5. A register of applicants opened as suggested in Mr. Campbell's D.O. No.104 dated 3rd January 1910, is herewith submitted for reference, and may form the collection from which selection has to be made on the present occasion. There are 89 names in the Register and full particulars in regard to the great majority of them are to be found in it.

6. Under the orders of 1906 above quoted, the Probationers are to be employed on a salary of Rs.50 for the first two years, and then the minimum salary of an Amildar or Deputy Amildar when sent out to act as such, viz., Rs.120 or 100 as the case may be.

7. The rate of Rs.50 seems to be little too small and too little to attract candidates with high University qualifications such as graduates both in Arts and Law, and may with advantage be raised to Rs.75, if His Highness pleases.

8. It may not be amiss to select 3 Probationers for the Revenue Department, 2 for the Judicial Department and 1 for the Police Department, making a total of 6, with two or three more to replace the Probationers whose services will have to be dispensed with, or a total of 8 or 9.

9. The selection, however, of these 8 or 9 names from among the 89 whose names have been registered, is not an easy matter - the more especially as experience shows that out of the six already appointed, three have turned out to be unsatisfactory. But making an attempt as well as I can, it seems to me that the following names possess the maximum guarantees for success:-

1. No.58 in the Register of applicants		- P.S. Purnia B.A., son of Mr. P. Srinivasa Rao, City Magistrate, Mysore
2. " 67	-do-	- M.V. Venkata Row B.A., son of a late Palace Sheristedar named Venkataramia.
3. " 64	-do-	- M. Abdul Hukh B.A., member of Khazi Syed Mahomed Ibrahim's family.

4. No.42 -do- - L. Krishna Rao B.A., Sub-Registrar, Mysore City.

5. " 31 -do- - R. Anantha Subramanyam B.A., B.L., son of the late Government Advocate Mr. S. Ramaswami Iyer.

6. " 13 -do- - N.K. Srinivasa Rao B.A., B.L., son of the late Mr. Naldroog Krishna Rao, Under Secretary to the Government of Mysore.

7. " 22 -do- - K. Shankara Narayan Rao M.A., B.L., an adopted son of a late Amildar of Tirthahalli.

8. " 63 -do- - H.M. Krishnaswami B.A., B.L., son of Mr. H. Sitaramia, Assistant Commissioner.

10. In regard to these 8 names, a few general observations are subjoined.

(1) P.S. Purnaiya B.A. - He is the son of the Mysore City Magistrate and thus belongs to a highly respectable family which has rendered notable service and is reputed for unexceptionable character.

(2) M.V. Venkata Rao B.A. - He is the son of a Palace Sheristedar whom I knew personally and who rendered most valuable service in troublesome times under four Palace Controllers, begining with the late Mr.C.Rangacharlu.

(3) M. Abdul Hukh B.A. - Besides being a member of the Khazi family, he is related to the late Khan Bahadur Mr. Mahomed Ali, Deputy Commissioner, on whom His Highness the late Maharaja was pleased to confer the title of 'Jowhari Majlis', and to the late Khan Bahadur Mahomed Saliha retired Assistant Commissioner and Musahib to His Highness the late Maharaja.

(4) L. Krishna Rao B.A. - He is at present employed as a Sub-Registrar in Mysore on Rs.50 and has put in 14 years service.

(5) R. Anantha Subramanyam B.A., B.L. - He is the son of the late Mr. S. Ramaswami Iyer, Government Advocate, who was a leading Lawyer and Practitioner in Mysore, with a large clientale among Ursu gentlemen and others connected with the Palace.

(6) N.K. Srinivasa Rao B.A., B.L. - He is the son of the late Mr. Naldroog Krishna Rao M.A., Under Secretary, whose name the administration of Mr. V.P. Madhava Rao, commended to the Chief Court for employment as Munsiff. He since acted as a Munsiff on two occasions and has yet to pass one examination of minor importance. He is now a practising Advocate in Mysore.

(7) K. Shankara Narayan Rao M.A., B.L. - He is the adopted son of an ex-Amildar, and may be regarded as a representative of the Malnad. He is a member of the Representative Assembly, and a practising Advocate at Shimoga.

(8) H.M. Krishnaswami B.A., B.L., - He is the son of Mr. Sitaramia, Excise Assistant Commissioner, and as such belongs to a most respectable family. His brother Dasappa who was a Probationary Assistant Commissioner under the Mysore Civil Service Scheme, died by drowning at Nanjangud. This was very much regretted because of his brilliant attainments. Mr. Sitaramia is also soon to retire from service.

11. I have seen all these eight gentlemen and have satisfied myself that they are very likely to turn out good officers.

12. To the foregoing eight names may be added that of Mr. Madhaviengar B.A., second son of Mr. A. Rangaswami Iyengar, Revenue Commissioner, and who passed first in the Presidency in his optional subject of Geology. He is highly spoken of by Mr. Tait, Principal of the Central College and has been prosecuting his studies for the

the B.L. degree.

My dear Sir,

I am directed to return File No.2176 dated 1-7-11 and to say that His Highness agrees with you as to the necessity for appointing 8 or 9 Probationers by special selection for the posts of Amildar and Deputy Amildar. As you say the selection of 8 or 9 names out of 89, whose names have been registered, is no easy matter, but His Highness after an examination of the Register of applicants cannot help feeling that this apportunity should be taken of selecting probationers from different castes and sects. Among the non-Brahmin names in the Register His Highness has noted the following as deserving of selection and would be obliged if you would let him know whether there are any objections to their being appointed as Probationers:-

No.59 Abdul Aziz Khan

77 G.Mallikarjunia-- Lingayet

78 T.V.A.Isvaran Modaliar

81 N.V.Narayanmurti- Vysia

89 Mohan Singh Rajaput

He would also like to give a start to young DeCruz whose name you mentioned to me yesterday.

This makes a total of six. His Highness would add Abdul Hukh and make in all 10 appointments, three vacancies being thus left for Brahmin Candidates. This seems to His Highness to be a fair destribution and if you agree His Highness would leave it to you to choose three out of the 8 Brahmin candidates recommended in your note and thus make up the total to ten. His Highness would be obliged by the favour of an early reply.

Yours sincerely

My dear Sir,

In reply to your letter D.O. No.2606 dated 20th July I am directed to say that His Highness approves of the appointment as probationers of the 6 candidates named in Para 4.

Abdul Aziz Khan's name may also be added as a seventh . The question whether this candidate is fluent in canarese does not seem to His Highness to be material in view of the fact that we have in the past admitted men to the service by open competition who knew no Canarese. I understand from what you told me that Abdul Aziz Khan's age is all right as he has only recently left College.

His Highness awaits a further communication from you about Messrs Narayana Murti and Mohan Singh - De Cruz may wait for an appointment until he has passed his B.L.

His Highness approves of the suggestion made in Para 5 of your letter regarding the order in which the seven names should be arranged in the notification.

Note on the proposed appointment of 7 or 8 Revenue Probationers.

We have 68 Taluks and 9 Sub Taluks corresponding to which there are 68 Amildars and 9 Deputy Amildars sanctioned. The 4 District Excise Officer's charges may also be included in the cadre of Amildars. So for purposes of calculation we may take a scale of 72 Amildars and 9 Deputy Amildars.

2. On 1st July 1911 the state of the Amildar and Deputy Amildar's services was as shewn below.-

3. From para 2 above it will be seen that there are 19 Amildaries and 2 Deputy Amildaries permanently vacant. Why in a cadre of 72 + 9 or 81 appointments, 21 or more than one-fourth the number have been allowed to fall substantively vacant ~~is~~ is not understood. The system of recruitment and appointment in the past seems to have been defective in this respect.

4. I have shewn above the present condition of the NOTE—Contn. sheet.

GPB—50,000—12-8-10

Serial No.

service as it has an important bearing on the question under discussion viz., the entertainment of probationers. I shall now discuss the general question of the proper number of probationers required for the Amildari service.

5. In a cadre of 81 the number of permanent vacancies in a year may be taken at about 4 on an average. As the period of probation is fixed at 2 years and an additional period of acting service for 1 year is also required before confirmation, the number of probationers required would be about 12 if all permanent vacancies are to be filled up by probationers. As a matter of fact, however, at least half the number of permanent appointments is likely to be made from officers of subordinate grades acting as Amildars. It would therefore seem that 6 probationers should be sufficient for all practical purposes.

6. As a matter of fact we have at present 6 Revenue Probationers. So there would not appear to be any necessity, under ordinary circumstances for taking any probationers just now.

7. The number of Revenue Probationers may remain fixed at 6 and as each Probationer is confirmed or sent away one may be appointed in his place. The appointment of Probationers should be done in this systematic way. To appoint 7 or 8 Probationers now when there are already 6 on the list would bring the number to 13 or 14 which seems to be unnecessarily high.

GPB—50,000—12-8-10

8. Whether the present unusual condition of the service referred to in paras 2 & 3 above justifies any addition to the ordinary number of Probationers (viz., 6) as a temporary measure can be decided only after a very careful examination of the list of acting Amildars and Deputy Amildars. It is true that we have 21 permanent vacancies but it is also true that we have got 38 acting Amildars. Reserving 3 vacancies for the 3 probationers who may prove eligible for confirmation within a short time, there are 18 permanent vacancies and 35 acting men. Out of these 35 acting men 10 have served as acting Amildars for over 3 years (some for 5 or 6 years), 9 more for over 2 years and 14 in addition for over 1 year (vide list enclosed). If these 33 men are expected to be confirmed in ordinary course, then against 18 vacancies at present existing and 12 which may occur during the next 3 years i,e, 30 in all we have already got 33 candidates. Most of these 33 candidates are qualified for confirmation as Amildars by having passed the necessary examinations. The entertainment of any extra Probationers against the existing permanent vacancies may therefore be embarrassing. If however Government desire to supersede at least 10 of the 33 men referred to above at the time of confirmation and intend to confirm probationers now taken in preference to them, notwithstanding the long acting service as Amildars which these men will have after two or three years more, then about seven additional probationers may be taken.

9. If Government are not prepared to supersede about 10 of the existing acting Amildars at the time of confirmation and they neverthless take seven more probationers now, the result will be that at the end of three years, we shall have a batch of probationers fully trained and qualified for confirmation for whom there will be no permanent vacancies. Some of these men may have to remain for two or three years more before confirmation which means a total probationery service of about five or six years which will not be a satisfactory arrangement.

10. Of course there will generally be 10 to 15 temporary vacancies in which the qualified extra probationers may be placed by curtailing the number of acting appointments from the lower services. But an arrangement which will result in probationers being kept for five or six years without confirmation will not be satisfactory. Moreover it is not desirable to recruit for a service like the Amildari by fits and starts viz., taking seven or eight probationers all at once and then not taking any for some years to come. By taking in a few every year or every two years we shall get better material and each batch can be confirmed at the end three years probation and training. I have tried to show above that the proper number of probationers ought to be six and the number to be taken in each year is therefore two. The majority of leave and other vacancies in the Amildari service should continue to be filled up from the lower grades as now and purely local arrangements ... giving no claim to confirmation as Amildar under ordinary circumstances should be encouraged.

11. The Finance Department is not concerned with the question of selection of candidates except in this way. It would only urge the importance of selecting properly qualified candidates about whose success in qualifying for confirmation at the end of the prescribed period there may not be any reasonable doubt. To waste money in trying to train up men who have only a remote chance of passing the prescribed tests and otherwise proving efficient is financially objectionable. This remark is rendered necessary by the rather embarassing situation which has been created by some of the existing probationers. If the Mysore Civil Service

Examination

GPB—50.000—13-5-08

Serial No.

Examination is held in future years the best way to recruit Revenue Probationers would appear to be to take in such of the men as pass high in that Examination and not getting Assistant Commissionerships are willing to enter as Revenue Probationers.

For the reasons stated above and also considering the educational progress that has been made amongst all classes, I am respectfully of opinion that it is not desirable to take any non-graduates as probationers. If for very strong reasons a non-graduate is thought of, he should be taken in only if an officer (e.g., a Councillor) appointed for the purpose certifies after examining the candidate orally and in writing that he has a reasonable chance of qualifying fully for an Amildari within the prescribed period.

The Finance Department would also advise that candidates selected should be below 22 years of age. To take a probationer who will begin to render useful service after 25 years of age is likely to cause loss to the State in many ways: and the higher the age of admission the greater generally will be the loss.

12. Finally, I am respectfully of opinion that the subsistence allowance of the Revenue Probationers may remain at Rs.50/- and need not be raised to Rs.75/-. After all it is the future prospect and not the subsistence allowance which is the real inducement. In Bengal, for instance, probationers of the corresponding class

GPB—50.000—13-5-08

Serial No.

class (probationary Sub Deputy Collectors) get Rs.50/- a month only and most of the recruits are good graduates.

13. To summarize:

(a) The proper number of Revenue Probationers under ordinary circumstances is six and we have now six probationers. In ordinary course two probationers should be taken each year. After two of the existing probationers are confirmed two probationers may be now taken. If any more of the existing probationers are confirmed or sent away their places may also be filled up.

(b) There is now a very large number of permanent vacancies in the Amildari service but against these there is a larger number of men who are qualified for confirmation by examination and who have rendered more than one year of acting service as Amildar. If however Government think that at least 10 of these men will prove failures and will not be confirmed then ... about 7 additional probationers may be taken. In that case it will be necessary to reserve permanent vacancies for the new probationers by keeping out some of the men now acting: otherwise there will not be vacancies for these probationers when they become eligible for confirmation.

(c) If instead of selecting a large number of probationers at one time, we take in a few every year or two years, preferably from the list of passes at the Mysore Civil Service Examination, we may get better material and there would be less chance of money being wasted on useless men.

Non-graduates should not be taken as probationers without an Examination and selected candidates should be below 22 years of age.

(d) The subsistence allowance of Revenue Probationers may remain at Rs.50/- per mensem and need not be raised to Rs.75/-.

Submitted to His Highness.

The subject of appointing a batch of Probationers for the Revenue and Judicial Departments, which has engaged His Highness' attention, was placed before the Financial Secretary and the Councillors, whose minutes are on the file and speak for themselves. There is, on the whole, a concurrence of opinion in regard to the appointment of seven Probationers at present. The Financial Secretary considers that a salary of Rs.50 would suffice, and that Rs.75 would be too much. The difference is small, but it will have an important bearing upon the Probationer's equipment and general life. The Probationers will be expected to maintain a horse and learn riding. They will have to purchase books and pursue a course of study. They have to maintain an establishment wherever they are posted to in addition to their usual household, and prices now a days are high. All things considered Rs.75 does not seem to be extravagant.

2. The Financial Secretary has recorded an interesting statistical review of cadre vacancies, ex-existing acting appointments, probable confirmations, probable recruitment of half the number of vacancies from subordinate grades, and so on, and recommends recruitment by a regular periodical appointment of Probationers.

3. In the proposals now submitted by me and generally approved by His Highness, it is not the intention to lay down any hard and fast rules in the matter of recruitment. It is intended at present to appoint seven Probationers and that is all.

4. The accompanying draft order may be approved.

5. Before however finally making the appointments, each ~~officer~~ of the selected candidates will be asked if he is willing to accept the appointment on the terms laid down. A copy of the proposed draft enquiry is also submitted for approval.
